

Student-Professional Networking Session

at Maryland Water Monitoring Council's Conference
December 6, 2019

This 1.5 hour session will begin with a panel of environmental and water quality professionals from industry, government, non-profit, and education discussing their career paths and advice. Students will have the opportunity to interact with the panelists to ask questions about careers in water quality and environmental fields. The session will be followed by the opportunity to continue conversations over lunch.
